Scott Huff, is the Western Technical Sales Representative for Versico Roofing Systems. and is responsible for calling on authorized applicators to assist in bid/proposal preparation, assist roofing personnel on product/technical issues, update literature, familiarize applicators with new systems and products, calling on building owners and supporting Architects and Consultants. He is currently pursuing his RRO (Registered Roof Observer) Certification with RCI.

Scott is a big fan of watching and playing many sports, but is a diehard soccer fan. He supports the Tottenham Hotspur, a team in England, as well as his local MLS team, the Portland Timbers.

Scott’s presentation will include topics ranging from industry issues such as enhanced roofing system design options to trends within the market including ANSI/SPRI ES-1 for metal edging, ASCE 7, the International Building Code and roof system warranties. The presentation will focus on the role single-ply membrane plays in today’s roofing market and its impact on tomorrow’s roof system performance.
